

LEARNING FROM

by Rich Marik
National Director of Instruction, NIKE Golf
Schools & Jr. Camps; PGA Professional;
Director, NIKE Junior Golf Camps in Monterey/Pebble Beach;
Former U.S. Junior Amateur Champion

Tiger has incredible concentration. He has set goals all his life and worked hard to achieve them. It is very difficult to achieve anything without a plan and a goal. You first must see yourself achieve any goal worth having before you can accomplish what you set out to do.

In the photo Tiger is reading the green and seeing the ball go in the hole before he actually hits the putt. Tiger does this before he hits every shot. In fact, I am sure he visualized and saw himself accomplishing almost every thing he has accomplished before he did it.

Do you think he thought about himself winning the Masters before he won it?

Tiger Woods focusing on a putt he is about to make on his way to winning the Mercedes Championship.